VOL. 24 No. 2 SPRING 2011

More Than Just a Coach

Unlike football and basketball, high school baseball games start in the middle of the afternoon, a time that is not conducive to drawing large crowds of spectators. But, large crowds are routine at Shamrock baseball games, possibly because of the quality of the school's baseball program. Or possibly a tribute to an above-average man who has overseen and built the program over the past six seasons. According to many, the job that Coach Bryan Scheurer does with his varsity Shamrock baseball team is second to none.

Bryan received the 2010 Coach of the Year award at a ceremony in Mount Pleasant.

Bryan works with his players through the winter and early spring months, and frequently receives calls from them asking him if they can practice even more. The reason? Simply put, it's fun to play ball for Coach Scheurer.

All of that practice pays off. The Shamrock baseball team is a perennial force to be reckoned with, a team that works to excel, not only for themselves, but for their coach. They have fun with him, they learn from him, they win for him and they love and respect him—a lot.

"I knew that win or lose Coach would have fun with us or would have something fun and positive to say about our performance each day," said former player Kyle Lay. "I never had a time when I didn't want to go to a practice or a game."

"The boys thoroughly enjoy being around Bryan because of his sincere and deep love of baseball," said Jan Simon, whose son David is a Shamrock player. Her husband, Jim continued, "David has told us that if he's having a bad day, all he needs to do is go to practice and Coach will make his day better."

Bryan is a coach who truly cares about his athletes, on and off the field. "Bryan treats every player like they're the most important player on the field," said another parent,

Amy Smith. "And he expects them to respect and encourage each other that same way." She continued, "Even when my boys have made mistakes and gotten chewed out, they would get a call from Bryan after the game to make sure that they knew that he still loved them."

Tyler Smith (2010) said, "Bryan is a very respectable person and coach, who makes baseball enjoyable for everyone. Even the people who weren't sure that they wanted to be on the team would love the game after a year of playing for him."

In January, Bryan received the honor of Division IV Regional Coach of the Year from the from the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association (MHSBCA). It was the second consecutive year

Mail Call

Dear Class of 1970,

Thank you for the invitation to your reunion, I am sorry that I was not able to attend. Many thanks to all of you for the DVD of photos that you sent to me. It certainly brought back memories of many happy occasions at St. Pat's. Super job!

Sister Phillipa (Mary Louise Germaine) and Sr. Adele (Donovan) joined me in viewing it—not once but twice over again. Again, many thanks!

*Love and prayers,
Sister M. dePorres*

Dear Fellow Alums of St. Pats,

Enclosed is a check for the Father Flohe Foundation. Please add it to the memorials for Ruth Keusch and Judy Fedewa.

I am grateful to you volunteers for your work in keeping St. Pat's thriving and for keeping Father Flohe's memory alive.

Next year, around the time I anticipate the 50th anniversary of my '61 graduating class reunion to be, I also have the opportunity to travel to Rome with our church choir. Does anyone have a fixed date for the '61 reunion? I hope to be able to attend, but also need to make a deposit for the trip to Rome. The choir members are dangling an audience with the Pope as an enticement—I am hoping I can have both!

*Gratefully,
Sharon (Manning) Wright*

(Editor's note: We contacted Sharon with the date for the 50-year reunion, and it sounds like she will be able to do both!)

My Journey to the Seminary

by Ryan Riley

Growing up, I often thought about becoming a priest. However, because I was unsure of what others might think, I mostly kept this idea to myself. When I graduated from high school, I considered entering college seminary, but instead enrolled at Alma College, where I earned my BA in accounting in 2005.

During my years at Alma, I joined a fraternity and became wrapped up in partying. I made little to no time for my faith or spirituality, and it really declined in those years. I still managed good grades, but when I wasn't in the classroom, chances are I was at the fraternity house or the bar.

When I graduated from college, I took a job with the Auditor General's office for the State of Michigan, a job I thoroughly enjoyed. I purchased a condo, and things really started quieting down. I would often come home from work to a silent house. When life quieted down, God began drawing me in, and speaking to me in the silence. I started going back to Mass, started praying more, especially the rosary, and I started to frequent the Sacrament of Reconciliation.

It amazes me how God waits for us, how He waits for the right moment to speak to us. Looking back, I think I purposely made my life loud and busy because I was scared of what the Lord might be asking of me. And, I think this is true for a lot of people. I really learned the importance of silence and how much we need it. We need it to make time for God, to engage God, and to form a relationship with God. In other words, we need silence for meaningful prayer.

Through discernment and talking with priests like Fr. Larry King, I decided that I should quit my job, sell my condo, and enter the seminary. I thought that if I didn't at least give it a try, I would regret it the rest of my life. I applied with the Diocese of Lansing because the majority of my family lives that way. Bishop Boyea and the Formation Board accepted my application and have sent me to study philosophy at Sacred Heart Major Seminary in Detroit, which is where I currently live. After two years of studying philosophy, God willing, I will enter the first of four years studying theology and will be ordained a priest in 2016.

Ryan graduated from Portland St. Patrick High School in 2001. He is the son of Charley and Dixie Riley of Saranac.

In The Spotlight

Kurt Decke

Kurt Decke (1967) knew from the time he was eighteen that he wanted to be a teacher. He received an Elementary Education degree from WMU followed by a master's degree in Educational Leadership. He taught at Albion Junior High for a few years, but, left teaching to make "real money" in the construction field. However, all the while that his hands were building material objects, his heart was yearning to build young minds. Kurt listened to his heart.

In 1989 Kurt started his second teaching career at Arizona's Apache Junction Unified School District, teaching junior high science. He immediately became aware and was concerned by the fact that students who got into trouble were thrown out of school. This approach seemed to be harsh and shortsighted. "So many kids mess up at this time of their lives. Junior high experiences become an excuse for dropping out of the human race. I wanted to give them a chance to become productive adults," he said.

For three years he lobbied for a school program for those troubled kids but the best he could get was an after-school program which he ran, with rampant determination. "Until 2:00 I was a mild-mannered science teacher," he said. "At 2:00 I became Mr. Mean & Nasty while I ran the after-school program for four hours each day."

But, what became immediately apparent were two things: 1) Working parents had no way to transport their children to school at 2:00 in the afternoon; 2) Parents were very concerned about what their children were doing in the hours before they came to school. Grim determination caused Kurt to continue his quest for a better program.

His hard work paid off in 2002, when the Mountain Shadows Education Center opened its doors. At that time Kurt was the teacher and his assistant, Tom Hill performed registrar, secretary, nurse and counselor duties. Today, they have 20 people who work with them and they oversee six programs. A year ago, an on-line program was started for high school students for credit recovery and "fifth-year" seniors. Last year the school graduated 20 students. Twenty students who were in danger of becoming hopelessly lost were given another chance to lead productive lives.

One of the programs that Kurt is most proud of is the Young Parents Program that includes a state-licensed day care facility for the babies of the high school girls. Other districts also have day care programs, but this one is unique. Instead of dropping their babies off at the day care center and reverting to teenage behavior during the school day, these young mothers are required to work three hours a day in the day care center. They are also required to take classes which include pre and post natal PE, child development and life skills. In addition, if their child has an issue while in day care, the mother is called out of class to deal with it. Kurt is proud of a picture that hangs in his office showing himself and Governor Janet Napolitano, who visited the school to see for herself what his program was achieving.

Other programs that Kurt has helped implement are:

- The Mountain Heights program for K-8 emotionally disabled special education kids.
- The Mountain Health and Wellness program which provides group and individual counseling and behavior modification services along with family counseling.
- The Focused Behavior Intervention program which provides early intervention for at-risk kids.

St. Patrick School Wins National Award

The March 2011 issue of Today's Catholic Teacher arrived in the mail on February 28, bringing along the exciting news that St. Patrick School has won a national award and is featured in the magazine along with eleven other Catholic schools that are leading the way with innovative programs.

The program which garnered national attention is our Try Us, You'll Like Us program that is in its second year. The program allows new families to send their children to St. Patrick School for one quarter without tuition.

The idea for this program came from School Commission member Mark Davis, who suggested that we give parents the opportunity to try our school without taking a financial risk. His thought was, that if families are able to see firsthand that we are doing a great job of providing a quality, Catholic education, they will want to stay.

With that one idea the new program was born. We implemented it in the second semester of the 2008

– 2009 school year. Since that time our enrollment has grown by seven percent.

Several other Catholic Schools have contacted me with questions about Try Us, You'll Like Us. Last fall, Bay Area Catholic Schools implemented the program with some special touches of their own, resulting in a modest increase in enrollment this year after two years of declining enrollment. Other schools, including one in the Diocese of Lansing are looking at using the program in the near future as well.

I am very excited that St. Pat's has received such prestigious recognition. The award will be presented at a special celebration banquet in New Orleans on April 27 which will coincide with the National Catholic Education Association's annual convention. We are thankful for and appreciative of this great honor and hope it will inspire Catholic educators everywhere to open their classrooms, schools, and imaginations to new ideas.

A MAP for Education

Elementary students are now being evaluated academically with a computer tool called a MAP (Measure of Academic Progress). The test measures a student's progress three times a year and alerts teachers and parents to areas that might need extra work, as well as areas of academic strength.

Tests are tailored to an individual's current achievement level. This gives each student a fair opportunity to show what he or she knows and can do. Because the computer adjusts the difficulty of the questions as the test progresses, each student takes a unique test. MAP testing will allow us to develop a plan for each student and then provide the tools for making sure that the student stays on course.

We've been quite impressed with what we've learned already, in the initial round of testing, and look forward to where this MAP will lead us in the future.

Fall Festival Celebrates 50 Years

by Christine Wilcox, Fall Festival Chair

The annual Fall Festival is the largest fundraiser sponsored by the Athletic Association. The money raised helps support the Shamrock athletic program, and allows the students to play sports without paying additional fees. We are fortunate that the St. Patrick community supports our athletes in such a positive way.

2010 marked the 50th year of the Fall Festival. Over the years the event has been finessed into a fun-filled day for the entire community. The meal is prepared and served by the athletes and their parents. If you attended the dinner you saw students and adults working side-by-side proudly wearing their St. Patrick spirit wear.

Other events of the day were the 5K race that saw record participants. The Euchre tournament, in its second year, also saw record numbers. The craft booths were full of hand made items perfect for early Christmas shoppers. Kids Fest took place on the second floor of the school and offered games and raffle prizes for the younger children.

Because the 50th anniversary fell on a special date: 10-10-10, we had some special activities, including a special raffle that paid out $1010.10. In addition, every person who ate dinner in the cafeteria drew a free ticket out of a Pot-'O Gold for the chance to win a door prize. Over 50 door prizes were given away.

Mark your calendars for next year's Fall Festival on October 9, 2011.

The dinner, special raffle, 5K race, euchre tournament, crafts and kids fest will be back again. We are also planning some new events for teens! Thank you to everyone who came out and enjoyed the day. See you next year!

Al Schrauben Wins #500

Girls basketball coach, Al Schrauben became a member of a very small club on December 16, 2010 when the Shamrock team beat Carson City-Crystal. Al became one of just seven girls coaches in the state to win 500 games.

Family, friends, fans and former players honored Al a few days later with a surprise reception at the Wagon Wheel. Following is the thank you that Al sent to the Athletic Association:

"I want to say thanks for all you do for the Shamrock programs and for me. A special thanks for the reception after the game. (I might have been the only person who didn't know it was going to happen. Mom always said I'm not the sharpest tool in the shed.) I don't know if I could ever give as much as I have received from the people of St. Pat's, but I have a great time and you people have been a big part of it. Thanks again. Al"

Update on Softball Field

Much of the work on the new softball field located in the southwest corner of Father Flohe Field was completed before winter weather arrived. Several trees were removed from the grove area, the field was graded, a sprinkler system was installed, grass planted, dugouts installed (for both the baseball and softball fields) and backstops erected (baseball and softball).

Donations of materials and labor, as well as monetary donations including several memorial funds have covered all of the costs incurred so far.

Work that remains to be done includes roofs on the dugouts, fencing for the softball field and additional fencing for the out-of-play areas of both fields. Future plans include a concession area and other upgrades to the area.

Everyone involved in the project, as well as players and coaches are hopeful that the field will be ready to use for the 2011 season.

Come Join Us!

The Athletic Association is an energetic group who accomplish a lot---while still having fun. If you would like to see what they do, please drop in at a monthly meeting. Meetings are held on the first Sunday of the month at 9:00 a.m. in Room 216. Athletic Association members who attend eight meetings a year (between September and June) receive a complimentary Family Season Pass.

Welcome!

A warm welcome is extended to two new members of the parish staff.

David McHugh, the new Coordinator of Youth Ministry, arrived in August 2010. David and his wife Noelle (Garcia) are parents of son, Damien, 7 months old and are expecting a new baby in September.

Lori Thelen took over the duties of Faith Formation Secretary in September 2010. She and her husband Tom have three children, Matt, 15, Hannah, 12 and Grace, 6.

Mexican Fiesta

The 2011 Winter Gala on January 29 provided guests with a lively evening of partying---south-of-the-border style. From the frozen margaritas to the delicious authentic Mexican dinner to the live salsa band, it was a fun-filled Mexican Fiesta. St. Patrick grad, Cecelia (Moses, 1995) Powell and her husband, Lamar demonstrated genuine salsa dancing and gave lessons to thirty guests.

Photos of the evening can be viewed in the Photo Gallery on the parish website, www.stpatrickportland.com.

Children's Liturgy of the Word

Children's Liturgy of the Word began last year at St. Patrick Church and has been a huge success. The program takes place during the 9:30 Mass each Sunday, and is overseen by eight teams of adults who rotate the responsibilities. Each team consists of 2-4 people.

Each week, following the opening prayers and Gloria, team leaders take children from Kindergarten to 4th grade to the Music Room on the lower level of the church. There, the children hear the same Sunday readings that the rest of the congregation hear, but at a level that they more easily understand. A simple craft or coloring project helps them remember the lessons from the readings. At the completion of the homily, the children return to the pews.

Bill and Nikki Badgero lead one of the teams. Bill said, "Children's Liturgy is a very rewarding way to help the children understand the Word. And we're always open to more people joining the current teams or forming new ones."

If you are interested in becoming part of this exciting new ministry, contact Deacon Don at the Parish Office.

Festival of Tables

The 4th annual Festival of Tables was held on Saturday, February 5. A record crowd of 260 women of all ages enjoyed seeing thirty creative tables beautifully decorated with wonderful themes. Guests enjoyed a wonderful meal, music by Andrea Gleason and a motivational talk by long-time WLNS news anchor, Sheri Jones. The event raised $2700 for the Portland Ministerial Association.

The young ladies who attended the Festival of Tables enjoyed talking to Channel 6 news anchor, Sheri Jones (4th from left).

KING'S COLUMN

Our Faith, Our Future

by Father Larry King

As most folks who live in the Diocese of Grand Rapids know, the Diocese is currently conducting a study which will help plan the future of our diocese. Although there are several reasons for this, the primary reason is the simple fact that we do not have enough priests in our diocese to pastor all the parishes we have now. In addition, in less than ten years the majority of the priests in our diocese will be 70 years old or more. The question then becomes, who's going to run the parishes, and who's going to be available for the sacraments?

Most priests do not totally retire – they only retire from the administration of parishes. If their health allows, most priests still help out in parishes for Masses on the weekends and at other times.

So, our Diocese is planning for the future, something that several other dioceses around us have already done. As I write this column, the Ionia Deanery, which includes St. Patrick Parish, and the Muskegon Deanery are entering into this study. It will be completed by fall and a lot of work, collaboration, listening, making recommendations, not to mention a lot of prayer will go into this planning effort.

Over the next several months, there will be several meetings between the Diocesan planners and parish representatives. I asked the Pastoral Council, Finance Council, and Ministries Council in our parish to recommend people to be our parish representatives. A fairly significant list of names was given to me, and from that list I chose five men and five women, all of whom are active leaders in our parish community. All ten, who represent a good cross-section of parishioners, accepted this challenge. This group is called the Lay Leadership Committee. Each parish will have such a committee.

In addition, a Coordinating Committee which will consist of one person from each parish, one representative from each parish in the Deanery, one priest representative, the Dean (who happens to be me), and a representative of the Hispanic community, along with the Diocesan Planners will help interpret the input and implement the resulting plan.

The first meeting of the Coordinating Committee was held in Februruy here at St. Patrick's. The input gathered there will be analyzed, the two committees will bounce the ideas back and forth, refining and adding to them, and the final recommendations will be made to the Bishop.

The Bishop, with the help of the Presbyteral council will make decisions based on the recommendations and input. Hopefully, all of this will be finished by fall.

The plan is to keep parishes as aware as possible about what is happening during the planning process, so that when the decisions are made and the recommendations are implemented, there won't be any surprises. The priests of the Ionia deanery have met with the Diocesan Planners and we all agree that communications with parishioners is vitally important. We are committed to doing the best we can to make sure that communication happens.

Please keep St. Patrick Parish, the Ionia Deanery, and the Diocese of Grand Rapids in your prayers as we go through this planning process, so as to better serve the Catholics in our Diocese.

that he received this title, and in 2009 he also was voted overall Coach of the Year.

Mark Scheurer coached his younger brother in high school. He said, "I've played baseball at a lot of levels and I can truthfully say that Bryan is as good a technician as there is in the game today and a great role model for his players.. He truly deserves this honor."

Thank You! Thank You! Thank You! On behalf of the Father Flohe Foundation, I would like to extend our sincere thank you to those who contributed to the Foundation over the past year, to those who remembered the Foundation as part of their memorial services, and to those who remembered the Foundation in their estate planning. Because of your generosity, the Foundation was able to provide approximately $245 toward the tuition of every student attending St. Patrick's School for the 2010/2011 school year. Looking forward to 2011 and beyond, we ask that you please continue to consider the Father Flohe Foundation in your planned giving. Your continued support is greatly appreciated and goes a long way to ensure the continuation of Catholic education at St. Patrick's.

Father Flohe Foundation

50-Year Reunion

Get ready St. Patrick graduating Class of 1961! The members of the Father Flohe Foundation are in the midst of planning a celebration in honor of your 50-year reunion. The celebration will be held on Saturday September 10.

Ask any graduates that attended previous celebrations and they can tell you what a great time it is. Hope to see all of the 1961 classmates there. Members of the Foundation will continue to be in touch to update you and your classmates as to the specific plans.

Contributions

Contributions can be dropped in the collection basket in an envelope clearly marked Father Flohe Foundation. Or, please mail contributions to Father Flohe Foundation, 140 Church Street, Portland, MI 48875. If you have any questions regarding the foundation please contact Kevin Schrauben at 517-647-1892.

'61 Grad is Champion of the Needy

In Powell, Wyoming, you'll find more than tasty food at Anna's Café. You'll find John D. Pung from Portland St. Pat's, Class of 1961 - owner/cook/philanthropist. John is a man of few words when it comes to his past, but finds plenty to say when he sees mismanagement in local government or when his fellow man can use a helping hand. In his café in downtown Powell, John is known for comfort food and his passion for responsibility within the community.

Previously a 20-year resident of Oregon, John observed the ravages of meth production and use. He began fighting illegal drugs 25 years ago, using his personal finances and resources. John says, "We learned many things from the years at St. Pat's and life doesn't always turn out the way we planned. We make many mistakes in life and can only hope we learn from them. We regret the mistakes that hurt others and then we should try to make up for them." He believes in being a man of action when it comes to the community in which he lives. "The Bible tells us to stand up in your community and make it a better place to live. There will always be others who can find fault and go to extremes to hurt you, but words will not break bones." John says it takes "people working together to make a community".

John's strength is in his personal faith in God. He sums up his philosophy in one phrase: "You do what you can - give from the heart." This is why he has numerous benefits at his café for local charities and non-profit organizations, holding spaghetti dinners and donating the proceeds. He is open every Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter with a free dinner for the poor and those alone for the holiday. Veterans of the military can drink coffee free at Anna's Cafe, and on Veteran's Day, everyone wearing a military hat is served a free breakfast. John seeks no recognition for what he does, but instead rests in his faith that God has protected him and been a Rock for him. John wonders "Without St. Pat's, would I have known what God was about?"

He loves to talk politics with his loyal customers. Wearing either a grimace or a grin, he keeps them up-to-date on local politics and encourages their involvement. A whiteboard sign in the café window often states his opinion on a local topic. John is a man who embodies honor, morals, respect and generosity. St. Pat's can be proud of this 1961 alumnus.

Anna's Cafe is located 117 S Bent St, Powell, WY 82435 . If you're in the area, stop in!

Elementary schools can refer students to this program for short periods of time. "I have always maintained that if I could get to some of these at-risk kids early, I might not see them when they get to junior high," Kurt said.

- Preparing All Students for Success, their newest program, provides special education for junior high school students who are not labeled as emotionally disabled, but have severe social difficulties in their relationships with other students and staff.

There are approximately 100 kids attending these programs on a daily basis.

Last spring budget concerns in the school district resulted in the closing of several elementary and middle schools, and the laying off of many faculty, including two principals and two assistant principals. The school district could no longer justify Kurt's position as principal when so many other administrators had been laid off. He was demoted from principal to Director. His title changed, but not his responsibilities.

While the "real money" is still made outside of teaching, Kurt feels that there is no greater reward than making a difference in others' lives. Every day he goes to the front line to fight for these kids, to give them the opportunity for a quality life and hope for a future. He is changing the world, one student at a time.

While Kurt claims to have many helping hands, his Shamrock-style determination has definitely made him the bull behind the horns in procuring the programs and facilities needed to support these special and challenged children.

Kurt is married with four children and one stepchild. In his leisure time, he enjoys reading and hiking the Superstition Mountains which are within walking distance of his home.

For more information about the programs that Kurt oversees, visit the school website: <http://www.ajusd.org/msec.cfm>

Reunion News

Reunion Reports

The Class of 1955 celebrated their 55-year reunion on Saturday, October 16, 2010 with dinner at Jerry's Restaurant in Portland. Dinner was followed by a bonfire on the Grand River at the home of Jim and Carol Wilcox. Fourteen classmates along with eight spouses attended the reunion. Everyone had a chance to catch up on the news with their classmates and a great time was had by all.

The Class of 1975 celebrated their 35-year reunion on Saturday, September 11, 2010 with 4:30 Mass followed by a wonderful meal served by Mrs. Sue Kreiner at the Portland Country Club.

The classmates were very honored to have their Class Advison, biology and science teacher but mostly remember as their "Favorite Teacher," Mr. Bruce Buysse attend the reunion. Mr. Buysse surprised most of the classmates by presenting them with a manila envelope labeled with their name, and containing a project or report that had been written as Sophomores—almost 38 years ago and finally graded and returned! Notes on the projects included "Great Job," "Excellent Work," etc.

Many classmates didn't remember doing the projects and were amazed by what they had done. What made them even more interesting was that they were all handwritten or drawn. Thank you Mr. Buysse for the wonderful memories, stories and your dedication. We will never forget you and you will always hold that special place in our hearts.

The Class of 1970 celebrated their 40-year reunion on Saturday, September 18, 2010 with a tour of the school, Mass, and a buffet-style dinner at the home of Dale and Carol Kramer. Classmates were surprised by the appearance of former coach and teacher, Jerry McDevitt and his wife, Geri at the reunion. Mr. And Mrs. McDevitt shared many memories of their time at St. Pat's, including the information that they were newlyweds and just 21-years old when they arrived in Portland.

Twenty seven members of the class, along with many spouses enjoyed smoked pork loin, expertly prepared by Ken Schneider along with a meal prepared by some of the other classmates. Everyone enjoyed watching a DVD which took them back to their school days and past reunions.

Thank You to Contributors

Thank you to Tony Bennett, Lou LaScala and Mark Scheurer who sent in information and ideas for some of the articles that appeared in this issue.

After writing this newsletter for 20+ years, we sometimes run short of new ideas, and are very appreciative of readers who contribute theirs. If you know of a grad or St. Pat's supporter who should be featured, especially those who live away from the area, outside of our scope, please contact any of us.

LOST SHEEP

Keeping our address list up-to-date sometimes seems like a never-ending chore! People move and forget to notify the Parish Office, young adults set up their own households and forget to notify us....and sometimes, we just don't know why your name ends up on the list. It is frustrating for us when we find out that you haven't gone anywhere, and yet the post office sent back your newsletter as undeliverable. If you have current address info on any of the grads listed below, please contact us, using the form on page

Cantu; grandson, Matthew Cantu; 4 brothers and 4 sisters. Surviving are her daughters Carol A. (Jack) Shepard of Howell and Janice R. (Dario Zaffarano) Seibel of Nevada, IA; 11 grandchildren; 3 great grandchildren; son-in-law, Fernando Cantu of Houston, TX; sister, Marcella Klein of Lansing.

PUZZLE time

This is a new type of puzzle, called a Double Puzzle. First you'll need to unscramble the fourteen words. Then use the letters from those words to fill in the quote at the bottom. The numbers below the letters indicate where they go. The words as well as the quote all have to do with volunteerism---the kind that we experience at St. Pat's! The first word is done for you, then you're on your own! Good luck!
