Shamrock Art Attack

Lower Elementary: DK to 2nd

Jack-o-Lantern by Sarah Kwiecinski DK

The students just finished up their Halloween jack-o-lanterns. They painted the pumpkin shape and then collaged on all of their adorable features! They are working on learning about more art elements like patterns, textures, and colors!

K
The students just created Halloween pumpkins with various emotions. The students will be creating Thanksgiving day lessons soon of a turkey!

Stained Glass Pumpkin by Kiley Hengesbach 1st

The first graders have just completed their Halloween stained glass windows that displayed a jack-o-lantern they cut out of construction paper. They are moving onto a special Thanksgiving project! They will be reflecting on what they are thankful for this year!

2nd
The second graders have been learning about textures. They have practiced drawing implied textures and will be using those in their haunted houses. They are still working on wrapping this lesson up. Their houses will also have a fun surprise that will pop out from their drawings!

Upper Elementary: 3rd to 5th

3rd
The third graders finished up their spooky Halloween haunted houses. They created them by coloring a background and using transparency paper and sharpie designs for their houses. They are moving onto learning about weaving.

Haunted House by Natalie Pung

4th

The fourth graders have finished their fall one-point perspective pumpkin patches. The students learned the tricks to creating a scene that looks as though it is going back into the distance! They are learning about weaving on a loom next!

5th

The fifth graders are currently working on their yarn monsters. They had to plan out the steps involved in creating the yarn monsters, plan what they wanted their monsters to look like, and they had to plan out a habitat for their monster to live in. They should be done soon!

Thank you!

Thank you Mr. and Mrs. Weber for the pumpkin donation! Thank you Mr. Hodge and Mr. Heckman for helping to get them to the school. The high school students enjoyed carving them!

Middle School: Coming Soon

High School: 10th & 11th

The students have been in full swing working hard on some detailed works of art. They completed their still life drawings which took much patience and a keen eye for detail. They turned out amazing!

process of deciding on what to carve, creating their own templates to transfer onto their pumpkins, gutting their pumpkins and finally carving to complete their work. It is a week long process that is full of messy times as well as awesome looking pumpkins! Thank you Mr. and Mrs. Weber for the pumpkin donations!

Once they completed their pumpkin carvings they moved on to watercolor paintings of landscapes. The students have been using a new medium, liquid watercolors. These watercolors are different from those used in the past for paintings in art class. The paints are already in a liquid state but are highly concentrated.

The students add water to the paints to lighten the colors to create the tints and shades needed to create their final pieces.
