Here are some helpful hints for your financial aid application:

Blackbaud Financial Aid Management partners with schools, dioceses, and scholarship programs to help analyze financial aid applications for families requesting assistance. Our application collects financial information to determine what a household can contribute to the cost of education according to our proprietary formula based on information provided within the application about income, assets, expenses and debts. In order to provide an accurate assessment of financial need, it is important that all questions that pertain to your household are completed.

Our goal is to provide a fair and accurate, third party objective analysis so the most informed and equitable decisions can be made when distributing financial aid awards to families.

Thank you,
Your Financial Aid Management Team

Please be sure to indicate the children who are applying for financial aid with “Applying for Aid” as their School Status. Here, you’ll also see 2 fields under Annual Tuition Contributions. The “Household” field indicates how much your family can afford towards the specific dependent’s tuition expense. Similarly, the “Other” field refers to any source from outside of your household that contributes towards the tuition expense. For example, if the student’s grandparents (or other relative) gifted money towards tuition, or if the dependent received a scholarship or grant from another source, that would be indicated here. After adding each of your household’s dependents, click “Save & Continue to Students on Application.” This brings us to the “Select a School” page. Please be advised that you can apply to as many Blackbaud Financial Aid Schools as needed with just one application!
